

AMERICANS CAPTURE VAUX AND HEIGHTS WEST; TAKE OVER 300 BOCHES CAPTIVE

Operation Carried Out in Conjunction With French Troops; Germans Attempt to Retake Positions Wrested From Them but Fail Except at Insignificant Point.

SUBMARINE CAMPAIGN AGAINST HOSPITAL SHIPS

By Associated Press.
PARIS, July 2.—The village of Vaux, west of Chateau Thierry, and the heights to the west of Vaux were captured last night by American troops in an operation on the Marne front, carried out in conjunction with the French, the war office announced today.
More than 300 prisoners, including five officers, were captured in the action.
The success has resulted in an improvement of the Allied lines between Hill 204 and the vicinity of Vaux.
The French carried out raids on the front between Montdidier and Noyon and eastward of Rheims in which prisoners were taken. German raiders were driven off by the French fire near Belloy and in Upper Alsace. The statement reads:
"To the west of Chateau Thierry a local operation carried out in conjunction with the Americans enabled the French to improve their positions on the front of Vaux hill 204. The village of Vaux and the heights to the west of the village were captured by American troops. The number of prisoners taken during this action exceeds 300, including five officers.
"Raiding operations carried out between Montdidier and Noyon and to the east of Rheims resulted in the taking of a few prisoners."
"Attempted German raids near Belloy and in Upper Alsace failed under the French fire."

SLICE OF PARIS HIGHWAY IN AMERICAN HANDS.
WITH THE AMERICAN FORCES ON THE MARNE FRONT, July 2.—In a brilliant operation after dark last night captured the village of Vaux, together with a large slice of the Paris highway west of Chateau Thierry, and two patches of wooded land. The Americans took 275 German prisoners, including five officers, and captured a quantity of machine guns and other equipment.

AMERICANS CATCH HUNS NAPPING.
WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, July 2.—In the Vaux region the Americans took the Germans completely by surprise. Most of the prisoners were taken out of cellars and dugouts. How many Germans were killed, of course, is unknown, but from the number of dead in plain view of various places the total must have been considerable.

GERMAN EFFORT TO REGAIN GROUND FAILS.
LONDON, July 2.—German troops last night, after a strong bombardment, attacked to the northwest of Albert, north of the Somme, in an attempt to regain the positions lost to the British on Sunday night. The enemy succeeded in gaining a footing in one of the British trenches, the war office announced. Elsewhere they were repulsed with loss.

SINKING HOSPITAL SHIPS DELIBERATE HUN POLICY.

LONDON, July 2.—That the sinking of hospital ships is a deliberate policy on the part of the Germans is placed beyond all doubt by the torpedoing of the British hospital ship Llandovery Castle, the newspapers say in their editorial comment today.
"In the presence of such unspeakable infamy," deliberately repeated, "says the Daily Chronicle, 'it is a waste of breath to reiterate the abhorrence which everybody with a spark of civilized sense must feel. But we would invite the German people to ask themselves what is the use of their statements appealing like foreign Secretary von Kuhlmann to be credited with probity and honor while crimes so odious, dishonorable and unashamed continue to be carried out by the orders of their government.'"
"The excuse for the attack on the Llandovery Castle," says the Daily Mail, "was a lie, and the German officer who told it did not believe it himself; when he said to the captain: 'You are carrying eight American fight officers.' If there had been a particle of truth in the charge, the submarine captain had only to stop the Llandovery Castle, seize the eight officers and take them to Germany as proof of Allied guilt in using hospital ships for transports."

COUNCIL AND BELL COMPANY MAY YET REACH AGREEMENT

At Request of Corporation Conduit Measure is Held Over.

WAS DOOMED TO DEFEAT

Bids Opened for Street Motor Truck But Contract is Not Awarded; Ordinances Illegally Adopted Are Re-Submitted; Other Council News.

The telephone conduit ordinance still lives. Assured that in the form submitted it could not possibly be gotten through city council, the Bell Telephone company, through its representative, Mr. Bishop, has asked that the measure be gone over section by section with a view to determining whether the company and council can get together on the points objectionable to the council.
The measure was to have been acted upon last evening. At least four votes against it, probably five, were assured. At the instance of Mr. Bishop action was delayed until the next meeting, July 8. In the meantime it is expected a conference will be arranged.
Bids for a motor truck for street use were opened, but council was not ready to decide which machine to purchase, and action was held over. Bids were submitted as follows: Packard Motor company, $4,125.21; Acme Motor Truck company, $3,043.25; Wells-Mills Motor Car company, $2,000; Connellsville Garage company, $3,775.
Owing to an oversight regarding the number of votes necessary for adoption five ordinances passed at the previous meeting were called up last night and re-adopted. Four votes were necessary under the law. Only three members of council were present when the former action was taken. All members but Councilman R. W. Hoover were present last night and all voted favorably. The ordinances were those for the grading and paving of Chestnut street and Davidson avenue, the vacation of an alley in the rear of the Slavish Catholic church on the West Side, the defining of another farther north to replace the one vacated, and that granting the Pennsylvania Railroad company the right to construct a sliding over Fayette street.

Settlement with Malachi Duggan for the paving of parts of Grape alley, Mountain alley and an unnamed alley in the vicinity of the Pennsylvania freight house was authorized. The expense was borne by the railroad company but the agreement was between the city and Contractor Duggan. A voucher for the amount, $3,553.15, was turned over by the railroad company to the city.

Purchasing Agent Hoover was instructed to advertise for bids for materials necessary to the construction of a building under the Crawford avenue bridge, according to estimates to be prepared by the city engineer. The building will be of old brick from repaved streets.

A CONNELLVILLE BOY CARTOONIST ON NAVAL PAPER

Raymond Balsley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Balsley of the West Side is achieving distinction as a cartoonist as well as making rapid progress in his training and instruction at the Naval Air Station at Key West, Fla.

In the current issue of "The Carouffage," a very pretentious monthly publication of 32 pages, published by the Naval Athletic association at Key West, appear two very clever cartoons from the pencil of Quartermaster Balsley. One is presumably a very life-like representation of "Blimp," described as devoting most of his time to the "study" of his elements. Another is "Rags on Watch." "Rags" is the dog mascot of the station and is depicted in an attitude of real naval vigilance on his post at the entrance to the mess hall.

THE W. M. RAILWAY BEING OPERATED AS PART OF THE B. & O.

Included in Connellsville Division of Latter by Federal Order.

A. W. THOMPSON MANAGER

Of Group Comprising B. & O. Eastern Lines; Western Maryland; Cumberland Valley; Cumberland and Pennsylvania and C. & C. Railroads.

Beginning yesterday the Western Maryland railroad between Connellsville and City Junction, Cumberland, is being operated as part of the Connellsville division of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. This grouping together of these parallel lines of road results from action of Director General McAdoo in creating what is termed the Allagheny Region, including the Baltimore & Ohio, dividing at Holloway, C. New Castle Junction, Pa., Parkersburg and Wheeling, W. Va., and including the New York terminals; the Western Maryland; Cumberland Valley; Cumberland & Pennsylvania and the Coal & Coke railroads, under the charge of A. W. Thompson, federal manager.

General officers in charge with headquarters in Baltimore, have been appointed, effective yesterday, as follows:

R. N. Begien, assistant to federal manager, who will have jurisdiction over all the territory in charge of operating and unification of facilities; J. M. Davis, manager of Baltimore & Ohio New York Terminals, with headquarters at New York; S. Ennes, general manager, Baltimore & Ohio eastern lines and Coal & Coke railway; M. C. Byers, general manager, Western Maryland railway, Cumberland Valley railroad and Cumberland & Pennsylvania railroad, with headquarters at Hagerstown; Archibald Fries, traffic manager; F. H. Clark, general superintendent maintenance of equipment; H. E. Voorhees, general superintendent transportation; E. M. Devereux, treasurer; H. R. Preston, general solicitor; H. A. Lave, chief engineer; W. S. Galloway, purchasing agent; J. J. Ekin, general auditor; E. E. Hamilton, assistant to federal manager.

The Potomac district is created, consisting of the following divisions: The Cumberland Valley division will include the Cumberland Valley railroad, the Western Maryland, between Hagerstown and Shippensburg, Pa.; the Philadelphia & Reading railway, between Shippensburg and Harrisburg, Carlisle and Gettysburg. The Hagerstown division will include the Western Maryland railway from Cumberland to Baltimore, except that portion included in the Cumberland Valley division; the Baltimore & Ohio railroad from Weyerton, Md., to Hagerstown.

The Elkins division will include the Western Maryland railway from Cumberland to Elkins and Belington, W. Va., and the Cumberland & Pennsylvania railroad. The district will be under M. C. Byers, general manager, who was connected with the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, and more recently assistant to president of the Western Maryland railway, who has appointed the following officers:

H. H. Tonge, general superintendent, with headquarters at Hagerstown, who has spent a number of years in the Baltimore & Ohio service; G. F. Wiesockel, superintendent, maintenance of equipment, formerly with Western Maryland railway, headquarters at Hagerstown; H. R. Pratt, engineer maintenance of way, formerly chief engineer of the Western Maryland railway, who will also have his headquarters at Hagerstown.

The Coal & Coke railway which extends from Charleston to Elkins, W. Va., with its branches, will be operated as a part of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. In spite of the reduced operating income revenues of the roads actually were larger for the five months this year than last. They were $1,290,282,620 compared with $1,274,970,488, giving margins which were more than eaten up by increased expenses.

For May operating revenues were $313,790,181 as against $284,783,500 in 1917. Operating expenses for May, 1918, were $236,688,368 against $216,798,140 for May, 1917. The net revenue from railway operation during May, 1918, the commission fund, was $77,101,813, only $10,000,000 below the net revenue in 1917 which was $87,099,410.

In reporting the figure on which government compensation is based, which is the railroads' operating income less certain debits for equipment and joint facility rent, the commission found that the net income of the 123 railroads for May, 1918, was $81,002,513, against $75,579,822 in May, 1917.

At a meeting of the school board of Dunbar last evening O. O. Saylor, for seven years principal of the West Brownsville schools and for four years engaged in the profession at Elk Lick, Somerset county, was chosen principal, succeeding H. L. Hannawalt, who filled the position last term. The salary was fixed at $125 a month.

All will be given substantial increases in salaries, depending on experience and grade of certificate. The increase will be approximately $10 on the month, on the average. The board voted to eliminate German from the high school curriculum. Whether French will be substituted was not determined. C. E. Gaddis was re-elected secretary of the board and Joseph Hair was chosen treasurer. The Central bank was made depository. Monday, September 9, was fixed as the date for opening school.

WIDER POWERS

Sought by District Representatives of the Fuel Administration.

At a conference just closed in Washington between district representatives and the Fuel Administration, request was made by the former for somewhat wider powers in the distribution of coal and coke. Under existing regulations a vast amount of red tape is used in making distribution. Requisitions for fuel are first passed upon by the War Industries Board. When approved the order is forwarded to the state fuel administrator and in turn passed on to the district representative in the field where the desired quantity of fuel can be obtained and delivered with the shortest haul to point of consumption. There is a lot of lost motion in this method which district representatives believe can be overcome by a decentralization of authority relation to distribution, whereby Washington would exercise only a general supervision instead of directing distribution in detail, as now done.

The Canvassers Believe There Will Be Margin to Report.

GATHER AGAIN TONIGHT

County Quota of $4,000,000 Probably Will Be Reached, Also.

RURALITES NOT YET IN

Other Communities Which Have Reported Have Shown Full Quotas and Some of Them in Excess of the Amount Necessary; All Hustling

The War Savings Stamp drive to go over the top with the $231,000 quota assigned this city began its last lap this morning. After canvassing two days last week in which the entire sum with the exception of about $50,000 was pledged, it was decided to extend the campaign for one more day and send Connellsville over the top once more. The drives in other communities have been going on steadily but by subscribing freely, citizens of this city required only two days to make a total of $294,964. The teams will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the Masonic temple to turn in reports. In the two days' canvass only 3,008 pledges were secured, and the campaign committee feels that this number ought to be given a big boost. The War Savings investment is possibly the best for the man of small means to make, as he gets a high rate of interest and is able to draw out his money on short notice if necessary.

There was no general gathering of the teams this morning. All canvassers had previously been supplied with pledge cards and arrangements were made by the captains for the districts which were to be canvassed. One team captain reported that he had written up $2,000 in pledges he secured from territory which had been canvassed by another team in the two-day drive last week.

Members of the campaign committee have also taken subscriptions which were made to them by men who said they had been overlooked last week and had intended to subscribe had they been visited. The committee requests that persons who wish to make subscriptions to the War Savings loan go to a bank if a solicitor does not see them.

The War Savings campaign in the county will close on the Fourth. It is estimated that the county quota of $4,000,000 will probably be reached. Communities in the county are reporting their full quotas but the rural districts have not been heard from in many sections.

DUGGAN WOULD HAVE MOTORISTS FINANCE STREET IMPROVEMENT

This is Only Method by Which Crawford Avenue, West Side, Can Be Paved at Present.

A suggestion of automobile owners of this city by which West Crawford avenue, better known as "Washboard avenue," might be paved has met with the approval of Mayor Duggan. Some truck owners have expressed themselves as being willing to haul the paving material if the city would furnish the material, the work to be done voluntarily by persons interested in having the thoroughfare repaired.

The street is in bad condition and one or two day's work could not help but improve it to some extent. The mayor expressed himself as being favorable to doing anything that would improve the street, and said the city would furnish the necessary slag and brick. "I know that street is an outrage," he said, "but the city cannot do anything. It is barely possible to keep enough men to get the streets cleaned."

The ruts in the brick surface of West Crawford avenue are hard on the springs of a machine, and make exceedingly rough riding. After a rain the holes are filled with water for several hours, and passing automobiles splash pedestrians. Mayor Duggan said the bricks in South Water street, which has been graded to the Baltimore & Ohio railroad company for property adjoining Arch street, could be used as they were in excellent condition and that no better bricks were made. Slag can be procured and with a few trucks to haul the material only labor would be needed to get the street into shape.

One side of the avenue could be repaved first and then the other. From First street, West Side, to the foot of the West Side hill, the street is just one deep hole after another. The many ruts have resulted in the street being called "Washboard avenue."

To date $5,000 has been raised toward the project among the business men of the city and vicinity, and it is expected an equal sum will yet be realized by contribution of the citizens. The congregation has been asked to contribute $15,000. The remainder of the expense, between $35,000 and $40,000, estimated, will be borrowed.

The plans provide for a solid brick school building in the rear of the church, with gymnasium and swimming pool in the basement, four school rooms on the first floor and an auditorium on the second. It is the intention to convert the present school quarters in the basement of the church into a club room for young people. The present parish house, fronting in Crawford avenue, will be removed to the rear of the church and enlarged and veneered, and an eight-room brick veneer home for the sisters will be erected, also in the rear. The space now occupied by the parish house will be converted into a lawn.

City council last night adopted an ordinance providing for the vacation of an alley blocking the church property, and another providing for another alley, making use of church property further north. The church property fronts 125 feet on Crawford avenue, and has a depth of about 250 feet.

It is the intention, said Rev. Father Tusek, the pastor, to begin work as soon as the materials can be secured. The H. C. Frick Coke company has subscribed $2,000 toward the expense. The following additional subscriptions were reported:

The Rappert-Pfeifferman company, $50; John Bird, $25; Hooper & Long, $25; Kail Bank, $25; Wright-Metler company, $100; Charles Schepis, $10; A. B. Kurtz, $25; W. Melnick, $10; Rev. H. THEATRE BEAUTIFIED.

Marquee Adds Greatly to Attractiveness of the Paramount.

Attractive improvements have been made upon the Paramount theatre by the erection of a marquee extending out over the pavement. In addition to 48 lights arranged around the marquee there is one large one in the center, which neither casts a shadow up or down. Beautifully the entrance are several large palms and Gofal baskets.

The improvements add greatly to the appearance of the popular theatre.

There is none who will ever be able to doubt the patriotism of Lin F. Hansen, a young farmer of Wayne.

Lin F. Hansen owned quite an extensive farm but when he heard the call of duty he responded. First of all, he sold his property, then contributed $3,800 to the Red Cross. He followed with a $1,000 contribution towards building a church and then bought another thousand dollars' worth of Liberty bonds. Not content with all this, Hansen enlisted in the army and then bought $4,500 more of Liberty bonds. He is stationed at Pensacola, Fla., with Company G of the Forty-third Infantry. President Wilson has written Hansen a letter expressing his admiration for the action taken by the young farmer.

Remark That Meant War.

"Some people ain't badly proud when they've got a cheap photograph to show off," observed Mrs. Frank of No. 35 to her neighbor at No. 38. "She had the four children all took together last week," and a thumb was jerked in the direction of No. 31.

"Only sayin' to my husband this mornin'," replied 33. "George, I says, 'I'm about fed up with her swank.' Never did see such a woman to put on airs. Fancy! A photograph in war time! I shall tell her if she shows it to me, you see if I don't."

Two minutes later the photograph in question was being passed over the opposite fence.

"Think it's like 'em?" asked its proud owner.

"I don't know 'em, do I?"

"O' course you do. They're my four."

"Never! Well, there, dear, I suppose you washed 'em afore they was took? Makes such a difference, don't it?"

WILL RAISE FLAG

Old Glory Will Be Unfurled as Honor to Young Soldiers.

A flag raising will take place on the Fourth of July morning at 10 o'clock on the spacious lawn of the home of Mrs. John J. Driscoll at East End, in honor of the birthday of her son, Norbert A. Driscoll, who is with the heavy artillery at Solissone, France. A beautiful flag was presented by Miss Mary Dugal, and in addition to this a service flag will be unfurled. Mrs. Driscoll has three sons in the service: Julian, with the United States Infantry, and Norbert A., both overseas, and James F., who has enlisted in the mechanical department and waiting orders to leave for active service.

The flag will be raised by Little Miss Pat Driscoll, a sister of the young soldiers. After the unfurling "The Star Spangled Banner" will be sung. Addresses will also be made. The students of the Johnson school and other friends of the family have been invited to the exercises.

FLAG ROPE BREAKS

Leisnering Man Climbs Pole and Makes Possible Raising Ceremony.

Unable to hold a flag raising at Leisnering No. 1 Saturday evening because the rope on a 75-foot pole broke, Freeman Sayers climbed to the top and inserted a new rope. He climbed the pole without the aid of climbers. At the top the pole was only two inches thick, but he negotiated his aerial trip safely.

When the new rope was placed through the pulley John Dennis raised the flag. The entire population of Leisnering turned out for the flag raising. The emblem was donated by the Conneltsville lodge of the Jr. C. U. A. M.

Miss Margaret Cooper Tells How Cuticura Healed Eczema

All Over Body Face Hands and Neck Itched and Burned

"I was troubled with eczema all over my body, especially my face, hands, and neck for about five months. At night it itched and burned so constantly that when I scratched it made me nearly crazy, and it made my skin so sore and red that it caused many small pimples. These formed into blisters, and I could not get any sleep. I found a Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertisement, so I sent for a free sample. In less than a week I could see a difference so I purchased more, and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and not quite one box of Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Margaret Cooper, 59 Keller's Lane, Plymouth, Pa., July 25, 1917. "Unightly complexioners are often a bar to social and business success. Having cleared your skin with Cuticura, why not keep it clear by using the Soap for every-day toilet purposes?" Sample sent Free by Mail. Address postcard: "Cuticura, Dept. K, Boston." Sold everywhere. 50c per box. Ointment 25c and 50c.

Special to The Courier.

SCOTTSBURGH, July 2.—Reports received by Miss Carrie Mae Fry, who was in charge of the canvass for War Savings Stamps by the several teams, show the sale of stamps amounted to $45,000. The canvass for members of the Pershing Link club will take place this week. The old Red Cross headquarters has been turned into War Savings Stamp headquarters. The sales fell short in the community because societies with branches have canvassed from their Pittsburgh headquarters, and as yet the local people have gotten no credit for them. This Good Looking Young Woman Advises the use of old time recipe of Butter-milk Cream in a New Way. A gentle Massage With Fingers Before Retiring All that is Necessary.

Buttermilk and Cream—Simple Remedy Best—Keeps Face, Hands and Arms in Excellent Condition—Soft, Smooth and Beautiful.

The old-time application of Buttermilk and Cream to whiten and preserve the skin and remove little wrinkles and ugly sallowness is grandmother's recipe, and women throughout the country are again using it to ensure a beautiful complexion and snow-white hands and arms. Buttermilk, however, is not always obtainable, but a specialist has at last perfected a method of concentrating buttermilk and combining it with a perfect cream, which you can buy in small quantities ready to use at any first class drug store, by simply asking for "Howard's" Buttermilk Cream.

There is no secret about it nor is there any doubt about the result—it's just a common ordinary buttermilk in the form of a wonderful cream, gently massaged with the finger tips around the corners of the eyes and mouth.

NOT SORRY NOW IT COSTS MORE

Does Not Regret His Eating Is More Expensive, Due to Tanlac.

This convincing Tanlac story was told by C. J. Swires, of 1819 Eighth Ave., Altoona, a signal story.

"I have been a great sufferer from catarrh in an advanced state," Mr. Swires began. "I have used everything I ever heard of, I believe," he continued, "but nothing I used helped me one particle. There were mucous discharges from my nose that affected my throat, violent coughing, offensive breath, impaired appetite, dizzy spells, and, altogether, I was in a nervous, run-down condition, and contracted colds."

"I heard of the wonderful work of this new medicine Tanlac and I immediately got me some of the medicine. I am certainly glad that I purchased the medicine and began taking it when I did, as it has done me a world of good. I have taken two bottles of Tanlac and am now on my third. This statement of mine is therefore not hasty, but is based on ample proof. All the symptoms from which I have suffered have disappeared and I believe Tanlac has cured me. I am, however, going to keep on taking the medicine as I believe I will get better than I ever was in my life."

Tanlac is now sold here by the Connellsville Drug Co.

TAKE A SUNSHINE TABLET FOR THY STOMACH'S SAKE

There never was such a marvelous prescription for stomach distress and indigestion as Mi-o-na.

No doctor ever wrote a better one. It is so good that A. A. Clarke says money back if it doesn't relieve.

A woman in Maine calls Mi-o-na the sunshine prescription because she has seen so many sour, miserable, aggravating dyspeptics turned into happy, cheerful, sweet human beings in a few days by taking Mi-o-na.

The stomach is responsible for three-fourths of the nervousness and half the misery of the world. A woman can have a first-class stomach and yet be miserable if she has a husband who is a nervous dyspeptic.

If you have indigestion, belching or gas, heaviness after eating, drowsy sensation after eating, sour stomach or any miserable stomach disturbance, the prescription called Mi-o-na will put you right, and bring sunshine into your life in a week.

A large box of Mi-o-na tablets, cost only 60 cents at A. A. Clarke's and by leading druggists everywhere. They

THE ONLY PEACE TERMS.

Whether Count Roon, a member of the Prussian house of lords spoke with authority of his supreme overlord, the Kaiser when announcing the preposterous peace terms to which Germany is entitled matters little. Even had the Kaiser himself stated these terms they will receive absolutely no consideration. In either case any peace proposal at this time would be nothing more than a colossal bluff to be completely ignored by the Allies.

It is to be expected that Germany's underhanded peace offensive will assume many forms, all characteristic of the whole Prussian policy of arrogance and cunning, as Clemenceau the French statesman terms it. It is nothing short of treachery to the cause of the Allies for any person even to think of peace negotiations. No matter from what source they may emanate, they may be assured that they are prompted by the Hun.

Our duty is to absolutely refuse to listen to anything except to push the war with constantly increasing vigor and strength until Germany has been driven to that extremity when, in good faith she is willing to state her peace terms. In two significant expressions and said: "understood words."

Unconditional surrender.

NECESSITY FOR SAVING SUGAR.

The adoption of the new sugar regulations which became effective yesterday is another of the steps the Food Administration has found necessary to be taken because of conditions growing out of the prolongation of the war.
There is an increasing shortage in the available supply hence additional restrictions must be imposed upon its use.

The Food Administration explains that a number of causes have developed to make our sugar position more difficult than was anticipated earlier in the year. The employment of the vast number of steamships in transporting men, munitions and supplies to Europe has greatly reduced the number of ships in the sugar transportation service, particularly from the sources of supply that are the most distant from our own ports. In consequence the supplies of raw sugar both for our allies and ourselves are not being received as regularly or in as large quantities as formerly. Again, some of the sugar producing areas within each of the United States, such as the West Indies, have had a much less mountain crop than had been expected. The sugar beet crop in the western states and the cane sugar crop in Louisiana have fallen short of earlier estimates. There has been further destruction of sugar factories in the battle areas of France and Italy. Both the United States and our allies have lost large cargoes of sugar through the activities of the U-boats.

All of these causes combined have so curtailed the known and estimated stocks of sugar from all sources that only 1,600,000 tons are counted upon to be available for consumption during the ensuing six months. Based upon a household consumption of three pounds per person per month; taking care of the needs of our Army and Navy, and providing for the preservation of fruit, milk and other food articles, will require 1,500,000 tons of sugar during the last half of the year.
This is in accordance with the supply estimate.

ed to be available during that period that it becomes incumbent upon every consumer to be just as sparing as possible, otherwise the stock of sugar will be exhausted before the next West Indian crop reaches the refineries about the first of next year.
Some persons may feel that they have already economized in the use of sugar and may look upon a restriction to three pounds per person per month, in addition to a special allowance for home canning as quite a hardship, but such a reduction is after all only about 25 per cent from normal consumption and still double the ration in the allied countries. Compared with the economies practiced in those countries we have not yet learned the meaning of the term. We must learn if we hope to show devotion at all comparable to the devotion of the people of the war-stricken areas have shown to the sacred cause their soldiers and ours are maintaining.

With the War Department ruling against the use of liquor in private homes where officers and soldiers are entertained, the Shipping Board advocating the use of beer by the shipping agent rather than the shipping company, and the War Department opposing amendment to the prohibition amendment and the President opposing amendment to the prohibition amendment, it is just a little perplexed to know whether Washington is a Sahara or a Dismal Swamp.

Shattering seven crack German divisions in three weeks in just a hint to the Hun of what the Americans will do when they really commence to fight.

Who's honey now? Count Roon, the Prussian lord who thinks Germany is entitled to the earth and a slice of the moon thrown in for good measure.

There were no Connel Williams in the defense of Verdun but we have some citizens who for the sake of the Red Cross are willing to have said of them Well done because of what they are ready to give toward relieving the suffering of those who will have other Verduns to defend.

Nothing but the age limit seems to stand in the way of Connelville's entire force of newspaper workers taking an assignment to get the halberd.

The Huns have already found that the despised Yankee can and will call the turn or any trick the want to play and show them a few new ones in the meantime.

A Democratic Discovery.

Philadelpia Press.
The Democratic National Committee has just issued a truly remarkable document for which it asks publication in the Democratic press. It is the announcement of the building up of a new party in the United States. It is in elegant language and breathing of glorification at every pore. In the language of consummate pride it tells how within three years the largest business industry in the world, from the point of view of money invested,
has been built up in the United States.
The United States has "mashed with overwhelming blows the German dynasty industry on the side of the Atlantic." It declares and wrecks her most profitable market. In glowing voice it points out we have cut out Germany from a source of prosperity which reached to the very heart of the employment of thousands of men and the reaping of millions of dollars of revenue.

The Democratic National Committee
evidently thinks that this is the first time that an industry has been built up in the United States. If its publicity agents will study the history of our tariff laws they will find a large number of such instances. From its very beginning the protective tariff policy of the United States has been effective in starting into life industries that never existed before. That is the basic idea of protection coupled with the idea of assuring to the American producer his proper place in the market place. In the present instance the war has acted as a high tariff wall against German goods that is all. Under the stimulus of such conditions the American dyestuffs industry has had an opportunity for rapid development and growth.
Now that the Democratic committee has expressed its joy at such a proceeding it should bring about a new and a Protective Tariff law, and it will then have other such achievements to chronicle.

THE MARINE.

He is always fit and ready
He is always cool and steady
And to fight his battle clean
He is trim and he is dapper
But he is every inch a scrapper
And whether the shells are thick or You can look for the marine.

He is the first to scout, he battles
First to fight, first to lead
First to find Old Glory's colors
Neath a foreign bit of sky
He is the first of truth's offenses
And when fighting grim combats
He is the first to heed the challenge
For the flag he is first to die.

He is rough sometimes of manner
But he loves his country's banner
He is a sailor and a soldier
Or a man of peace and law
In the wild untutored places
He can teach the savage graces
And he'll build a Yankee schoolhouse
With a hammer and a saw.

He can level mountain ridges
Cross the rivers with his bridges
Fashion order out of chaos
And a ruler down a ruler
Uncle Sam has never (as)ed him
With a job or never asked him
For a special brand of service
That he wasn't ready for.

He is a son of fine tradition

Spreading freedom is his mission

And you'll always find him grinning

Everywhere the flag is seen

When the bullets start to flying

Every day he is grim and trying

You can thank the Lord above you For the U. S. A. Marine.

CHAIN LETTER FAKE

Red Cross Not Identified With Movement for "Face and Jaw" Hospital.

The Pennsylvania Committee of Public Safety has been advised by the federal authorities that a chain letter plan, "for the purpose of founding a special hospital in France, for the treatment of wounds in the face and jaw," should be discouraged. Recipients of the letter were requested to send 25 cents to the French consul at Seattle and to write five friends to do likewise. This letter was put in circulation through a misunderstanding. It links the name of the Red Cross with the enterprise but the American Red Cross announces that it has not agreed to help finance such a hospital. The Red Cross and the French ambassador are anxious that the chain should be broken.

The Treasury Department has authorized disapproval of a chain letter plan which has been started by some enthusiastic workers for the sale of War Savings Stamps. The National War Savings committee also wishes the public to understand that it did not instigate such a plan. In fact, the federal authorities are opposed to all chain letter schemes.

GUNNER DEPEW

Albert N. Depew

EX-GUNNER AND CHIEF PETTY OFFICER U. S. NAVY
MEMBER OF THE FOREIGN LEGION OF FRANCE
CAPTAIN GUN TURRET, FRENCH BATTLESHIP CASSARD
WINNER OF THE CROIX DE GUERRE

Copyright 1918, by Kelly and Brown Co., Through Special Arrangement With the Chicago Tribune-Publishing Service.

At daybreak our trenches were all pounded in and most of our dug-outs were filled up. Then Fritz opened up with his artillery fire right on us. We thought they were going to charge and we figured their barrage would lift and we could see them come over.

We received orders to stand to with fixed bayonets. Then the man at the periscope shouted, "They come!"

A battery directly behind us went into action first and then they all joined in and inside of five minutes about eight hundred guns were raising Cain with Fritz. The Boches were caught square in No Man's Land and our rifles and machine guns simply mowed them down. Many of them came half way across, then dropped their guns and ran for our trenches to give themselves up. They could not have got back to their own trenches.

It was a shame to waste a shell on these poor fish. If they had been given the law would prevent you from hitting them—you know the kind. They could hardly drag themselves along.

That is the way they look when you have got them. But when they have got you—kicks, cuffs, bayonet stabs—there is nothing they will not do to add to your misery. They seem to think it boasts their own courage.

An artillery fire like ours was great fun for the gunners, but it was not much fun for Fritz or for us in the trenches. We got under cover almost as much as Fritz and held thumbs for the gunners to get through in a hurry. Then the fire died down and it was so quiet it made me jump.

We thought our parapet was busted up a good deal, but when we looked through the periscope we saw what had happened to Fritz' trenches and, believe me, they were practically ruined.

Out in No Man's Land it looked like Woodworth's five-and-ten; everywhere were gray uniforms, with tin cups and accoutrements that belonged to the Germans before our artillery and machine guns got to them.

Our stretcher bearers were busy carrying the wounded back to first-aid dressing station, for, of course, we had suffered too. From there the blesses were shipped to the clearing station.

The dead lay in the trenches all day and at night they were carried out by working parties to "Silent park," as I called it.

A man with anything on his mind ought not to go to the front-line trenches. He will be crazy inside of a month. The best way is not to care whether it rains or snows; there are plenty of important things to worry about.

CHAPTER VIII.

On Runner Service.

One night a man named Bartel and I were detailed for runner service and were instructed to go to Dixmude and deliver certain dispatches to a man whom I will call the burgomaster and report to the branch staff headquarters that had been secretly located in another part of town. We were to travel in an automobile and keep a sharp watch as we went, for Dixmude was being contested hotly at that time and German patrols were in the neighborhood. No one knew exactly where they would break out next.

So we started out from the third-line trenches, but very shortly one of our outposts stopped us. Bartel carried the dispatches and drove the car, too, so it was up to me to explain things to the sentries. They were convinced after a bit of arguing. Just as we were leaving a message came over the phone from our commander, telling them to hold us when we came. It was lucky they stopped us, for otherwise we would have been out of reach by the time his message came. The commander told me, over the telephone, that if a French flag flew over the town the coast would be clear; if a Belgian flag, that our forces were either in control or were about to take over the place but that German patrols were near. After this we started again.

When we had passed the last post we kept a sharp lookout for the flag on the pole of the old fish market, for by this we would get our bearings—and perhaps, if it should be a German flag, a timely warning. But after we were down the road a bit and had got clear we saw a Belgian flag whipping around in a good, strong breeze. But while that showed that our troops or the British were about to take over the place it also indicated that the Germans were somewhere near by. Which was not so cheerful.

As we went through the suburbs along the canal which runs on the edge of the town we found that all the houses were battered up. We tried to halt several heads that stuck themselves out of the spaces between buildings and stuck themselves back just as quickly, but we could not get an answer. Finally we got hold of a man who came out from a little cafe.

He told us that the Germans had been through the town and had shot it up considerably, killing and wounding a few inhabitants, but that shortly afterward a small force of Belgian cavalry had arrived and driven the Boches out. The Germans were expected either to return or begin a bombardment at any moment and all the inhabitants who sported cellars were hiding in them. The rest were trying to get out of town with their belongings as best they could.

On reaching our objective we made straight for the Hotel de Ville, where we were admitted and after a short wait taken to the burgomaster. We questioned him as to news, for we had been instructed to pick up any information he might have as to conditions. But we did not get much, for he could not get about because the Germans, who had made it a policy to terrorize the people of the town.

We had just got into the car and were about to start when the burgomaster himself came running out. He ordered us to leave the car there and said he would direct us where to go. He insisted that we go on foot, but I could not understand when he tried to explain why.

We soon saw the probable reason for the burgomaster's refusal to ride in the car. All around for about a mile the roads were heavily mined and small red flags on iron staves were stuck between the cobblestones, as warnings not to put in much time around those places. Also there were notices stuck up all around warning people of the mines and forbidding heavy carts to pass. When we got off the road I breathed again!

After a great deal of questioning we finally reached our destination and made our report to the local commandant. We told him all we could and in turn received various information from him. We were then taken over to the hotel. Here we read a few Paris newspapers, that were several weeks old, until about eight, when we had dinner, and a fine dinner it was, too.

After we had eaten all we could, and wished for more room in the hold, we went out into the garden and yanked a while with some gardeners, and then went to bed. We had a big room on the third floor front. We had just turned in, and were all set for a good night's rest, when there was an explosion of a different kind from any I had heard before, and we and the bed rocked about like a canoe in the wake of a stern-wheeler.

There were seven more explosions, and then they stopped, though we could hear the rattle of a machine gun at some distance away. Bartel said it must be the forts, and after some argument I agreed with him. He said that the Germans must have tried an advance under cover of a bombardment, and that as soon as the forts got into action the Germans breezed. We were not worried much, so we did not get out of bed.

A few minutes later we heard footsteps on the roof, and then a woman in a window across the street, asking a gardener whether it was safe to go back to bed. Then I got up and took a look into the street. There were a lot of people standing around talking, but it was not interesting enough to keep a fired man up, so into the hay.

It seemed about the middle of the night when Bartel called me, but he said it was time to get out and get to work. We found he had made a poor guess, for when we were half dressed he looked at his watch and it was only a quarter past seven, but we decided to stay up, since we were that far along, and then go down and cruise for a breakfast.

When we got downstairs and found some of the hotel people it took them a long time to get it through our heads that there had been some real excitement during the night. The explosions were those of bombs dropped by a Zeppelin, which had sailed over the city.

The first bomb had fallen less than two hundred yards from where we slept. No wonder the bed rocked! It had struck a narrow three-story house around the corner from the hotel, and had blown it to bits. Ten people had been killed outright, and a number died later. The bomb tore a fine hole and hurled pieces of itself several hundred yards. The street itself was filled with rocks, and a number of houses were down, and others wrecked. When we got out into the street and talked with some army men we found that even they were surprised by the force of the explosion.

We learned that the Zepp had sailed not more than five hundred feet above the town. Its motor had been stopped just before the first bomb was let go, and it had slid along perfectly silent and with all lights out. The purr that we had thought was machine guns, after the eighth explosion, was the starting of the motor, as the Zepp got out of range of the guns that were being set for the attack.

The last bomb had struck in a large square. It tore a hole in the cobblestone pavement about thirty feet square and five feet deep. Every window on the square was smashed. The fronts of the houses were riddled with various sized holes. All the crockery and china and mirrors in the house were in fragments.

Not much more than an hour before the Zepp came, we had been sitting in a room at the house of the local military commandant, right under a big glass-dome skylight. This house was now a very pretty ruin, and it was just as well that we left when we did. You could not even find a splinter of the big round table. The next time I sit under a glass skylight in Dixmude, I want a lad with a live eye for Zeppelins on guard outside.

Something about the branch headquarters ruins made us think of breakfast, which we had forgotten, so back to the hotel. Then we started back to our lines. We were ordered to keep to the main road all the way back, or we would be shot on sight, and to report to headquarters immediately on our return. I thought if the sight of me was so distasteful to anybody, I would not take the chance of offending, being anxious to be polite in such cases. So we stuck to the main road.

Fritz did not give us any trouble and we were back by five, with all hands out to greet us when we were in sight, and a regular prodigal son welcome on top, for we were later than they had expected us, and they had made up their minds that some accident had happened.

While I was around Dixmude, I saw many living men and women and children who had been mutilated by the Germans, but most of them were women and children. Almost every one of the mutilated men was too old for military service. The others had been killed, I guess.

But the Belgians were not the only ones who had suffered from German Kultur. Many French wounded were tortured by the Huns, and we were constantly finding the mutilated bodies of our troops. It was thought that the Germans often mutilated a dead body as an example to the living.

We Were Constantly Finding the Mutilated Bodies of Our Troops.

The Germans had absolutely no respect whatever for the Red Cross. For instance, they captured a wagon loaded with forty-French wounded, and shot every one of them. I saw the dead bodies.

When the Germans came to Dixmude they got all the men and women and children and made them march before them with their hands in the air. Those who did not were knocked down. After a while some of them saw what they were going to get, and being brave sports as I ever heard of, tried to fight. They were finished off at once, of course.

The former burgomaster, had been shot and finished off with an ax, though he had not resisted, because he wanted to save the lives of his citizens. They told me of one case, in Dixmude, where a man came out of his house, trying to carry his father, a man of eighty, to the square, where they were ordered to report. The old man could not raise his hands, so they dragged his son away from him, knocked the old man in the head with an ax, and left him there to die. Those who were spared were made to dig the graves for the others.

There was a doctor there in Dixmude, who certainly deserves a military cross if any man ever did. He was called from his house by the Germans at 5:30 one morning. He left his wife, who had had a baby two days before, in the house. He was taken to the square, lined up against a wall with three other big men of the town.

Then he saw his wife and baby being carried to the square on a mattress by four Germans. He begged to be allowed to kiss his wife good-by, and they granted him permission. As he stepped away, there was a rattle and the other men went West. They shot him, too, but though he was riddled with bullets he lived, somehow, and begged the German officer to let him accompany his wife to the prison where they were taking her. This was granted too, but on the way, they heard the sound of firing. The soldiers yelled, "Die Franzosen!" and dropped the mattress and ran. But it was only some of their own butchers at work.

Doctor Laurent carried his wife and baby to an old aqueduct that was being rebuilt by the creek. There they lived for three days and three nights, on the few herbs and the water that Doctor Laurent sneaked out and got at night. Doctor Laurent says that when the Germans killed and crucified the civilians at Dixmude, they first robbed them of their watches, pocketbooks, rings and other things. There was a Madame Tilman there, who had had three thousand francs stolen from her and was misused besides.

These were just a very few of the things that happened at just one place where the Germans got to work with their "kultur." So you can picture the Belgians agreeing on a German peace, while there is a Belgian alive to argue about it. They will remember the Germans a long time, I think. But they need not worry; there are a lot of us who will not forget either.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"THE CABARET"—A five part World feature in which five of the most famous motion picture stars appear, is being shown today. They are June Elvidge, Monague Love, John Bowers, Carlyle Blackwell, Frank Mayo and George MacQuarrie. The exceptional strength of this cast was chosen because of the length of the story. "The Cabaret" is a forceful, unusual intensely interesting dramatic document which a splendidly worth its presentation by such an all-star cast. It is a story of present day life in the famous Greenwich village of New York City, where so many of the modern internationally famous authors and artists live and work. "The Cabaret" is, of course, a love story, and an unusual one. It shows the Bohemian nature of life lived in "The Village" as few other films have recently done, and in doing this it presents a number of fascinating views of this remarkable section of the big city. Carlyle Blackwell has the heavy part while Monague Love takes the part of the silent, but faithful lover. Altogether this production is one of the really memorable film events of the year. Tomorrow and Thursday "The Man Without a Country" Edward Hales famous story, will be shown. Florence LaBadie, supported by a cast of unusual excellence appears in the leading role. Apart from its stirring patriotic spirit the picture offers reels of engrossing entertainment. Friday and Saturday Theta Barn will be featured in "The Forbidden Path" a Fox production. Mary Garden will be seen in "A Splendid Sinners".

ARCADE THEATRE.

The Girls from Haylers was greeted by capacity audiences at the Arcade theatre yesterday, and that the show went over well and pleased the audiences is indicative of the high calibre of this latest Gus Sun offering. There were several beautiful singing numbers interspersed into the sketch, and a patriotic closing brought forth generous applause. Norma Standish received four encores in her rendition of "Buttercup." The show closed with the eighth installment of Helen Holmes in "The Lost Express." The show will be repeated again today Wednesday and Thursday will be a complete change of program.

ORPHEUM THEATRE.

"FLARE-UP SALLY"—Is a Paramount production featuring Dorothy Dalton. In the role of Sally Jo Miss Dalton is first seen living near one of the mushroom mining towns that sprung up in California in the days of the gold rush of '49. In gunny sack rags and tatters Miss Dalton is still attractive. She goes to the Loo-loo Bird, a noted resort, and is lured into an unconscious dance by the music which so charms the proprietor of the place Dandy Dave Hammond that he secures permission to keep her there. Wednesday Vivian Martin is featured in "Unclaimed Goods."

Manning was calling on Connelville friends Monday. Charles Gaal, who has been off duty the past three weeks as the result of burning his hands packing a hot box on his train enroute to Youngstown, has returned to his work.

A bull belonging to Charles Boyd of North Dawson, caused much excitement to the residents Sunday afternoon, and for a time threatened to do much damage. It was tied in his orchard near his barn when the rope broke. Mr. Boyd and son Raymond went out and were going to drive him into the barn, but the bull refused to go, and turning on them made them seek safety by climbing up into the peach trees. The bull raged and tearing up the sod under the trees would not budge. The men's calls attracted the attention of some of the residents, and in a few moments the entire population was out to give their assistance. After bellowing around and doing many wild west stunts the bull left the orchard and started down into the town, and we must say here that the ones who went to the rescue did

In the meantime the Boys, got out of the trees and soon Mr. Boyd was at the barn and mounting his horse went after the bull. R. ding up to it he tried again to drive it to the barn, but the bull was not just ready to go. After waiting several minutes it was finally driven into the stable of George Johnson. A new rope was adjusted into the ring in his nose, after which Mr. Boyd and son led him back to the barn with little trouble.

200 CASES OF ALLEGED VIOLATION OF FUEL RULES ARE TO BE PROSECUTED

Out of 400 or 500 Which Have Been Investigated by the Legal Department of Administration.

The Fuel Administration announces that about 200 cases involving alleged violations of D. Garkle's order's have been turned over to the Department of Justice for prosecution and that between 400 and 500 other cases are under consideration by the legal department. The administration in a statement explaining its activities in taking action against those charged with violating the price regulations says:

A large majority of the offenders in these cases are jobbers who have made a profit in excess of that prescribed by the Fuel Administration. There are other cases in which operators have charged more than the government price for coal.

In some instances the charges complained of were made by mistake. In a majority of cases however the overcharges were apparently made intentionally in the expectation that they would escape the attention of the authorities. In every case the offender was given ample opportunity to refund his illegal profits before his case was turned over to the Department of Justice. He first received a communication from the Federal Trade Commission calling his attention to the fact that his charges constituted a violation of the orders of the Fuel Administration and suggesting that he would be given an opportunity to make restitution.

Upon his failure to comply with that suggestion his case was referred to the legal department of the Fuel Administration which thereupon again called his attention to his violations and notified him that an opportunity would be given him to refund his apparent excess charges.

Only those cases have been referred to the Department of Justice in which the violators have failed or refused to comply with the demands of the Federal Trade Commission and the legal department of the Fuel Administration.
